EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This report provides an overview of public funding for civil society organizations (NGOs) during 2025, based on data collected through the online platform and reports submitted by central and municipal institutions.

In total, €16,540,346.10 in funds were reported as allocated to various projects in areas such as education, culture, sports, gender equality, and social inclusion. The reporting process was carried out primarily through the online public funding platform for NGOs, thereby increasing transparency and public access to data.

Out of 57 institutions required to report, 50 have submitted reports, while the remaining institutions have not reported at all. At the central level, all agencies within the Office of the Prime Minister and all ministries have reported, whereas at the local level, 31 municipalities have reported, while 7 others have not reported at all.

In 2025, the total funding at the central level (OPM and ministries) amounted to €9,557,175.20, while the local level maintained a relatively stable level of funding, with a slight decrease to approximately €6,983,170.88.

This combination has resulted not only an increase in the overall total, but also in greater diversification of the supported projects. Technological improvements to the platform have facilitated reporting and data publication, although some challenges remain, such as data harmonization and compliance with reporting deadlines.

The main conclusions are that the public funding process is becoming more transparent and inclusive, but there is still a need for technical and organizational improvements. Key recommendations include strengthening internal control mechanisms, compliance with reporting deadlines, and providing enhanced support for technical staff.

This summary aims to provide the reader with a quick and comprehensive overview of the report's findings and recommendations, highlighting the institutions' commitment to transparency, accountability, and effective support for civil society.

FOREWORD

Dear Sir/Madam,

The publication of the 2025 Annual Report on Public Financial Support for Non-Governmental Organizations represents an important institutional achievement for the Republic of Kosovo. During this year, progress has been made in strengthening institutional capacities, particularly in planning, announcing calls for funding, reporting, and administering the online platform for public funding of NGOs.

The report provides a comprehensive overview of the funds allocated and how they are used by NGOs, with an emphasis on the results achieved and their concrete impact on communities. It also reflects the institutional commitment to the continuous improvement of the funding system and the enhancement of public transparency and accountability.

At the same time, the report reaffirms the importance of continuous cooperation between public institutions and civil society as a key element for sustainable social and economic development. The objectives and strategic orientations for the future aim to further strengthen this cooperation and increase the efficiency of funding mechanisms.

Although challenges were encountered during the year, including technical issues with the platform that affected delays in data processing, institutions continued to fulfil their obligations, including reporting on the platform and the timely submission of the F-20 form.

Thank you for your continued cooperation and commitment throughout this joint process.

Yours sincerely,
Habit Hajredini
Director, Office of Good Governance/Office of the Prime Minister

1. INTRODUCTION

The Regulation MF-No. 04/2017 on Criteria, Standards and Procedures on Public Funding of NGOs defines the obligations of public institutions for reporting on the funding of NGO projects and programmes. Its purpose is to standardize the entire public funding cycle, from planning, public calls, contracting, monitoring, to reporting.

The Regulation defines not only the role of the Office on Good Governance/Office of the Prime Minister (OGG/OPM), but also the role of all budget institutions in preparing the comprehensive annual report on public financial support for NGOs. Under Article 26, each budget organization is required to prepare its report for the previous fiscal year, submit it to the OGG/OPM, and publish it on its official website.

For 2025, the OGG/OPM has collected reports from 15 ministries and the Office of the Prime Minister, as well as 31 municipalities, while 7 municipalities have not reported at all.

This comprehensive report for 2025 reflects the commitment of institutions to transparency, accountability, and efficiency in the allocation of public funds to civil society.

1.1 Methodology used

The Office of the Prime Minister/Office of Good Governance (OPM/OGG), in cooperation with the Ministry of Finance, has established a transparent and sustainable system for the public funding of civil society organizations. Transparency and accountability have been strengthened through the development and improvement of the Online Platform for Public Funding of NGOs (<http://ojqfinancime.rks-gov.net>). This platform provides detailed data by year, institution, sector, and region, enabling direct and hierarchical reporting from all ministries and municipalities.

The reporting process for 2025 was primarily based on data entered by institutions into the platform. Manuals and technical guidelines were distributed to facilitate the work of coordinators, while technical support was also provided to responsible officials. In some cases, reporting was also carried out using the standard F-20 form.

In addition to direct reporting, the OGG/OPM has analysed the official websites of institutions to review public calls, their content and the flow of funding procedures. It should be noted that the OGG/OPM does not assume responsibility for the accuracy of the data reported by budgetary organizations.

Technological advancements of the platform during 2025–2026 have included: improved functionality, the introduction of mass reporting capabilities, and public interaction through graphs and data filters. However, technical challenges and reporting delays from some institutions have resulted in delays in the publication of the annual report.

2. GENERAL DATA ON REPORTING BY BUDGET INSTITUTIONS/ORGANIZATIONS

2.1 Reporting by Budget Organizations in accordance with the Regulation

According to Regulation MF-No. 04/2017, each budget institution is required to prepare and publish an annual report on the financing of NGOs. For 2025, out of 57 institutions required to report, the majority submitted their reports, while some did not complete reporting within the deadline. This directly affects the level of transparency and accountability.

2.2 Digitalization of Reporting

The online platform for public funding of NGOs has been the primary reporting tool for 2025. Central and local institutions have used the system to enter data on public calls, contracted projects, and funded amounts. Digitalization has facilitated data collection and enabled their real-time publication for the public.

2.3 Responsibilities and Relation to the Law on Public Financial Management

Reporting on NGO funding is closely related to the implementation of the Law on Public Financial Management and Accountability. This law requires that all public expenditures be documented and published, ensuring accountability and transparency. The failure of some municipalities and budget organizations to report remains a challenge for the full implementation of this regulation.

2.4 Improvements and Challenges in Reporting

Reporting for 2025 shows improvement compared to the previous year, both in terms of quality and the level of institutional participation. However, several notable challenges remain, including inconsistencies in data harmonization, delayed reporting by some institutions, and missing complete data for certain funded projects. These factors make accurate year-on-year comparisons more difficult.

2.5 Institutional Participation in Reporting for 2025

Of the 57 institutions required to report for 2025, 50 fulfilled this obligation, while 7 did not submit any report. At the central level, all ministries and offices within the OPM submitted complete reports. At the local level, out of a total of 38 municipalities, 31 reported on the allocation of funds to NGOs, while 7 did not submit any report. This level of participation is presented in the accompanying figures. Figure 1 shows that 88% of institutions reported for 2025, reflecting a high level of compliance with reporting obligations.

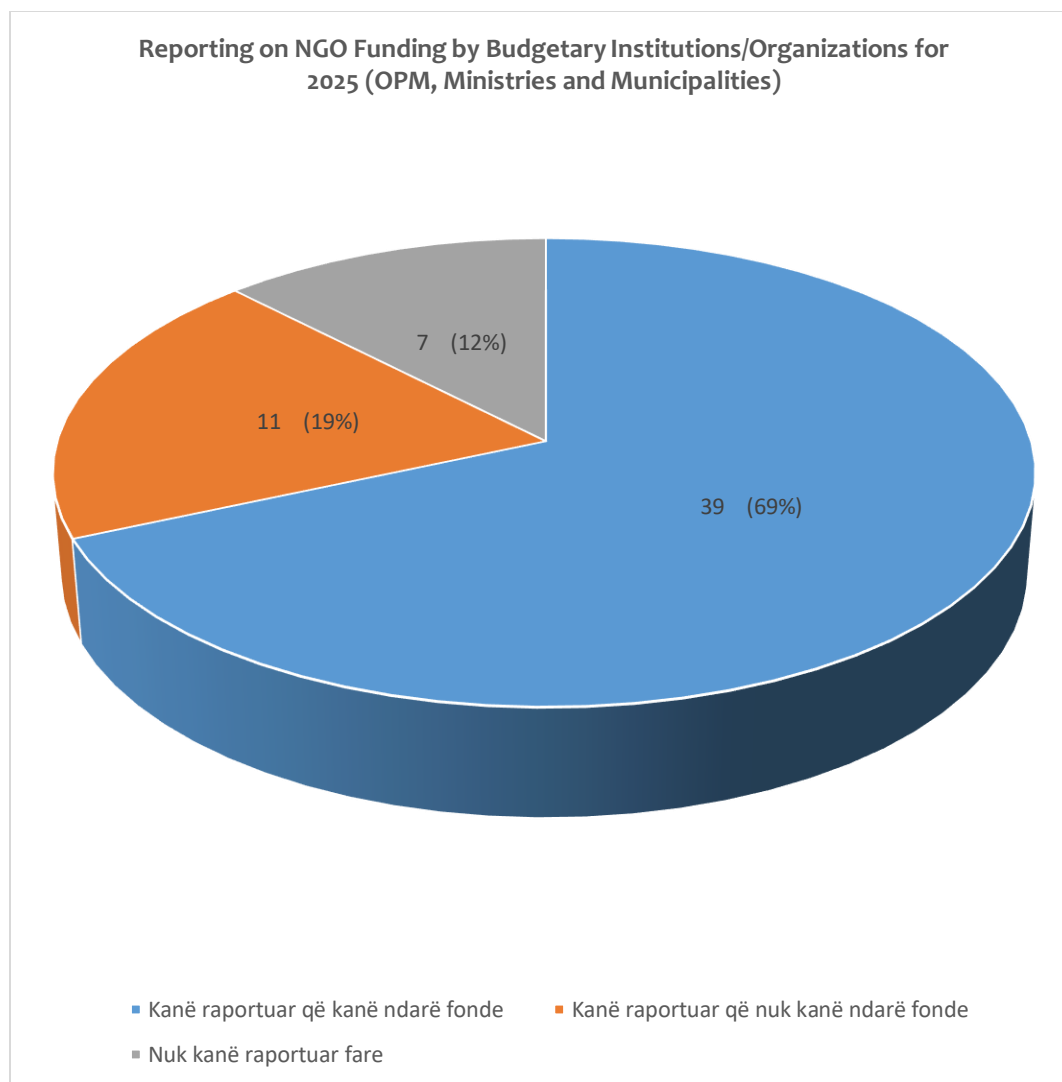

Fig. 1 – Percentage of institutions that have reported financial support for 2025

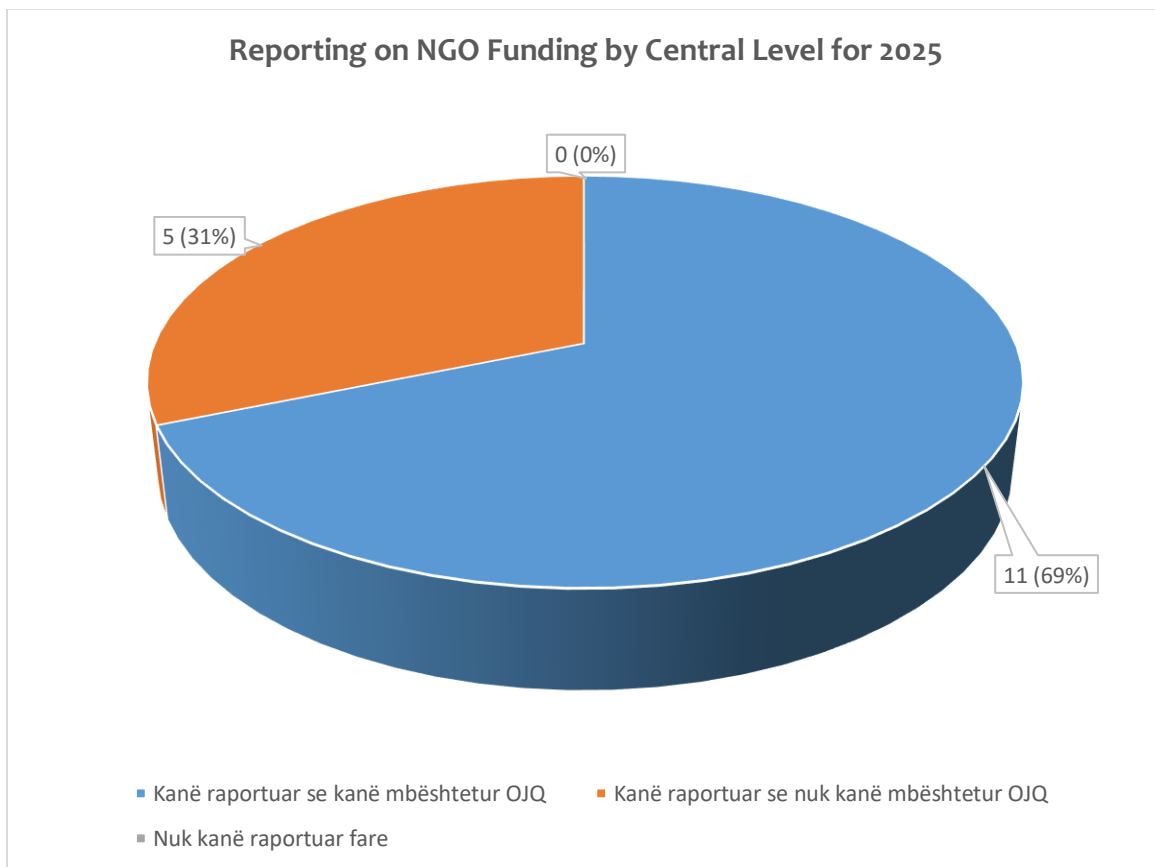

Fig. 2 – Percentage of central-level institutions that have reported financial support for 2025

Fig. 2 shows that out of 15 ministries and 4 agencies within the Office of the Prime Minister, 10 ministries and the Agency for Gender Equality within the OPM reported that they have allocated funds, while 5 ministries and three agencies within the OPM reported that they have not allocated funds for NGO funding. This means that out of 16 institutions, 69% have supported projects and 31% of them have not supported projects.

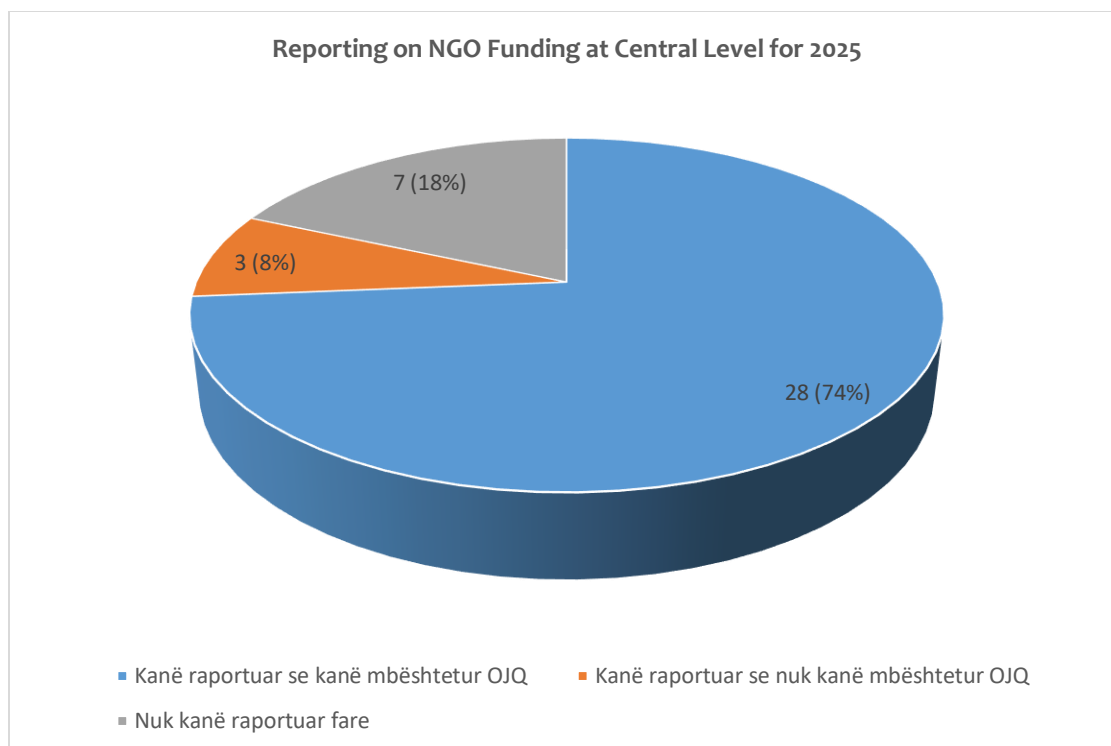

Fig. 3 – Percentage of local-level institutions that have reported financial support for 2025

Fig. 3 shows that out of a total of 38 municipalities, 28 of them reported that they allocated funds for financial support to NGOs, 3 of them reported that they did not allocate funds to NGOs, while 7 of them did not report at all.

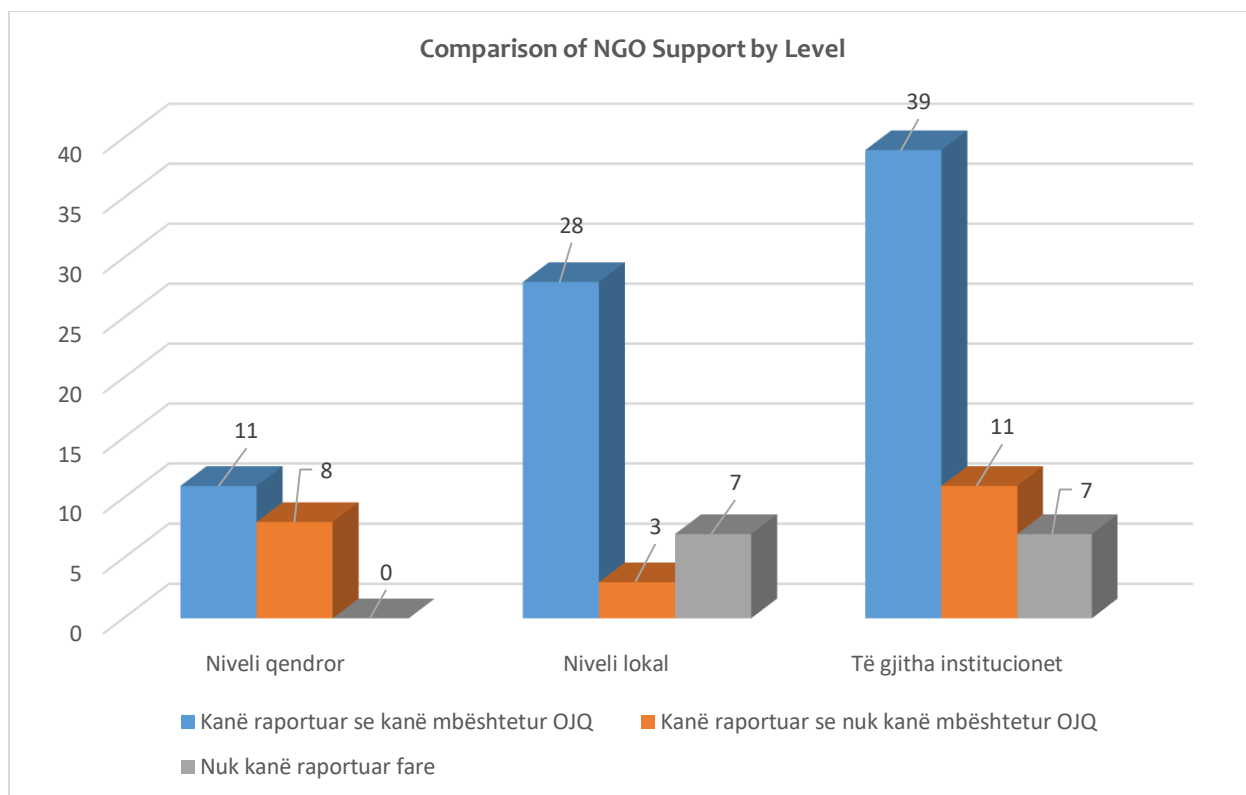

Fig. 4 – Comparison of NGO support by level

According to Figure 4, the allocation of funds is presented by both central and local levels, as well as the overall allocation of funds across institutions.

2.6 Areas of NGO Project Funding by the OPM/Ministries and Municipalities for 2025

The figure below presents the areas of NGO project funding by the OPM/Ministry and municipalities for 2025 based on data reported by these institutions through the funding platform. According to the data, the most funded field was “Art and Culture”, with 507 or 34% of the allocated funds. It is followed by “Sports” with 412 or 28% of allocated funds, “Other areas of action” with 158 or 11% of allocated funds, “Social services” 132 or 9% of allocated funds, and so on.

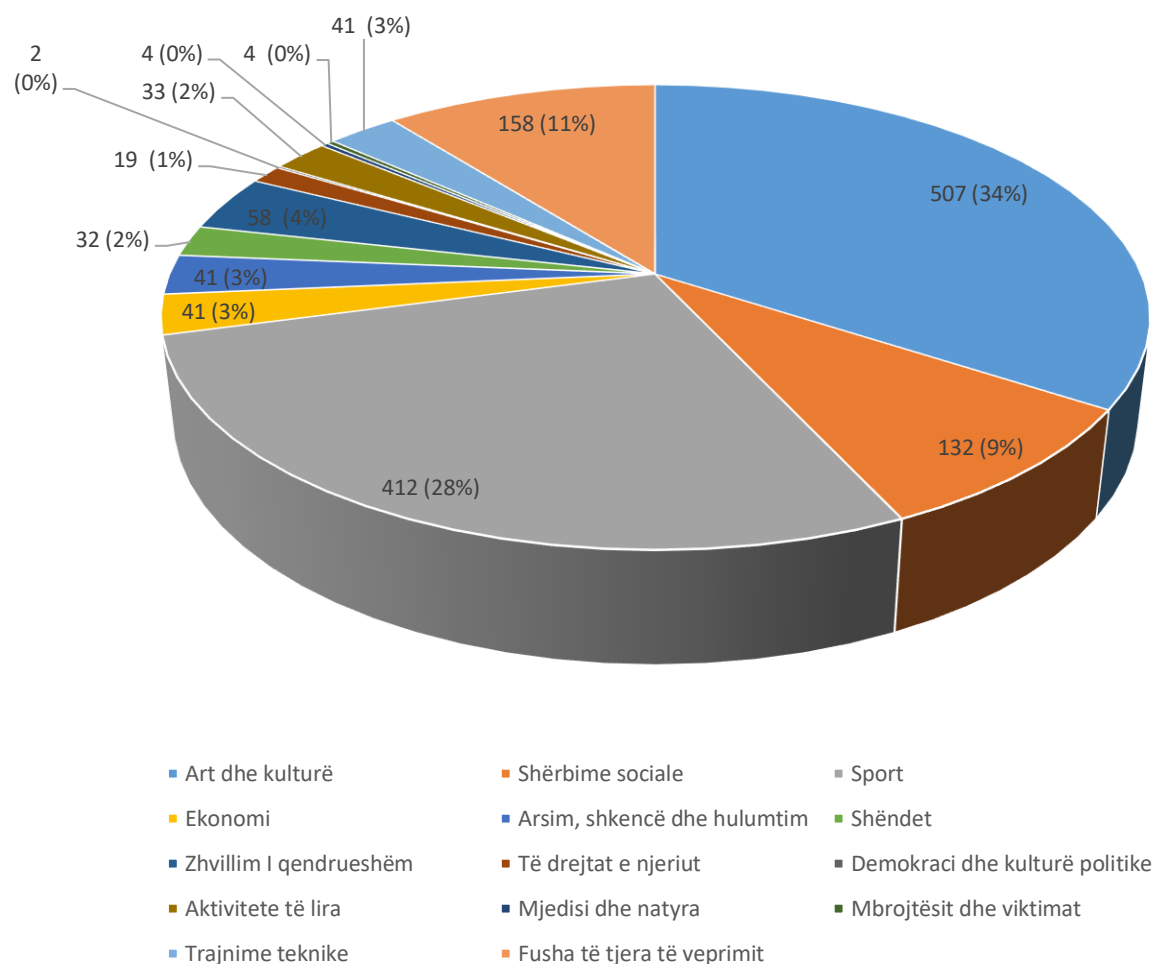

Fig. 5 – Areas of NGO project funding by the OPM, Ministries, and Municipalities

The data in Figure 6 show that central-level funding is mainly concentrated in the field of “Art and Culture”, with around 247 or 47% of allocated funds, while other areas of action have benefited from a significantly smaller share of financial resources.

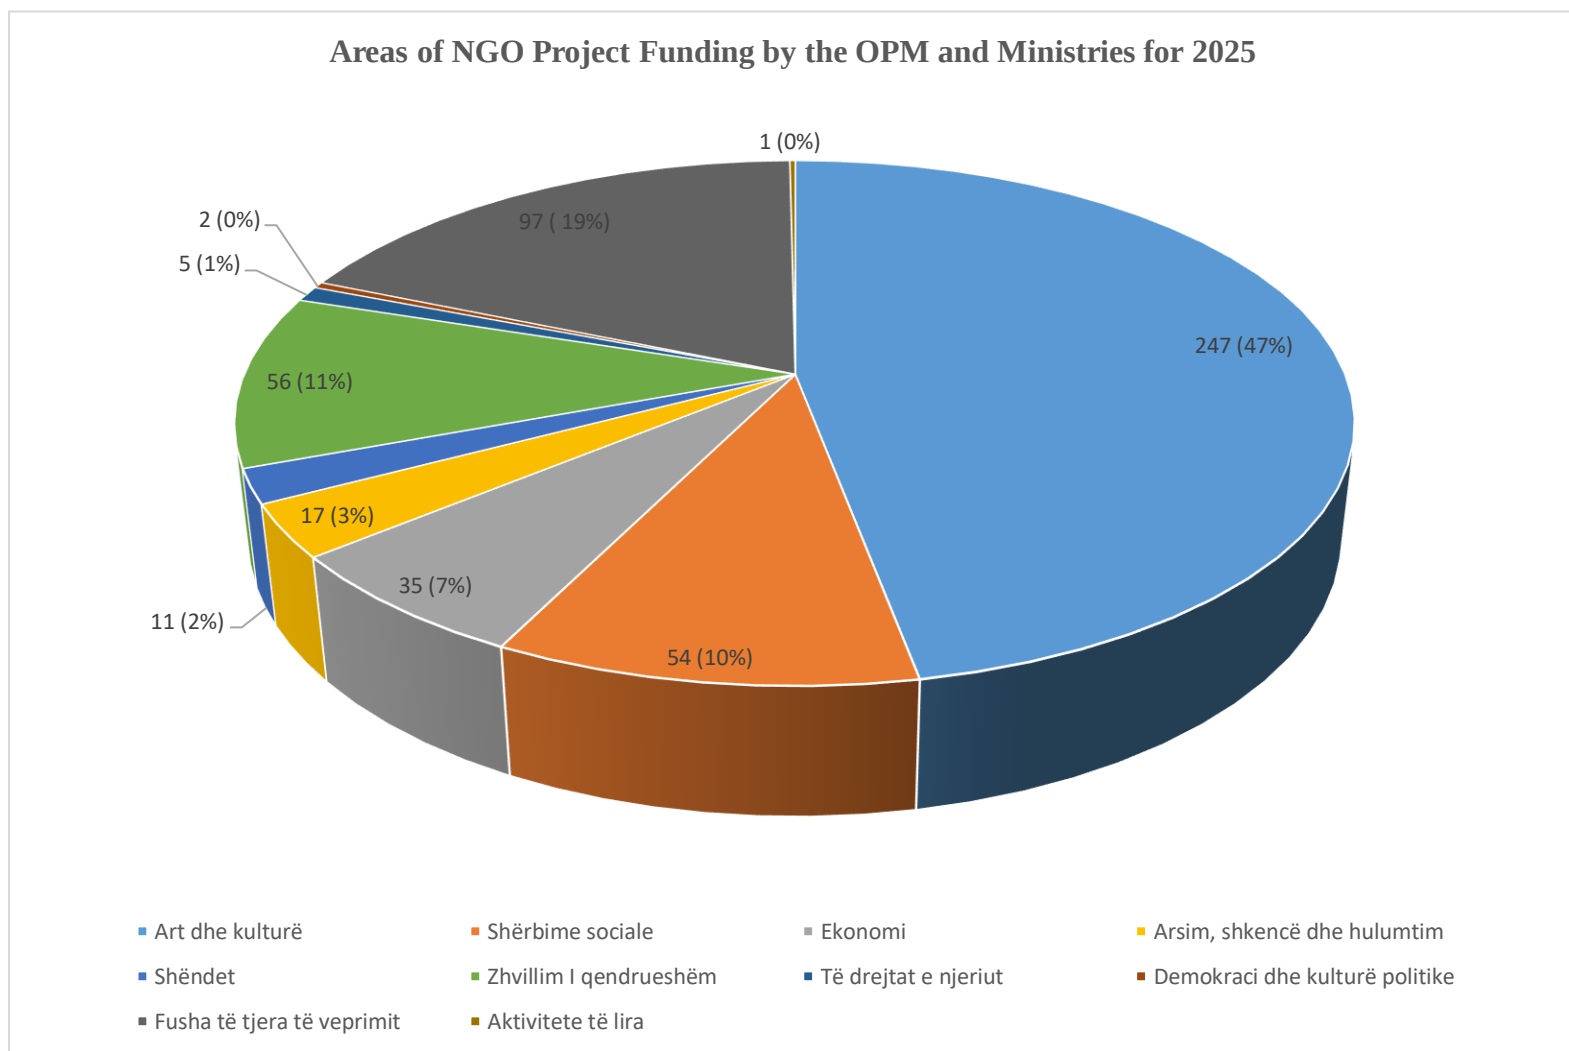

Fig. 7 – Areas of NGO project funding by the OPM and Ministries

In terms of local-level funding, Figure 8 shows that the main focus is on “Sports”, with around 412 or 43% of allocated funds, followed by “Art and Culture”, with around 260 or 27% of allocated funds, while other areas have benefited much less compared to these two areas.

3. DATA ON PUBLIC FUNDING BY INSTITUTIONS

3.1 Amounts and Supported Projects

For 2025, public funding for civil society organizations has been allocated through various central and local institutions.

The allocated amounts have covered projects focused on various areas such as education, culture, sports, human rights, social inclusion, and gender equality, among others. Figures 9 and 10 below show the number of beneficiary projects at both local and central level, as well as the amount allocated for projects at the local and central levels.

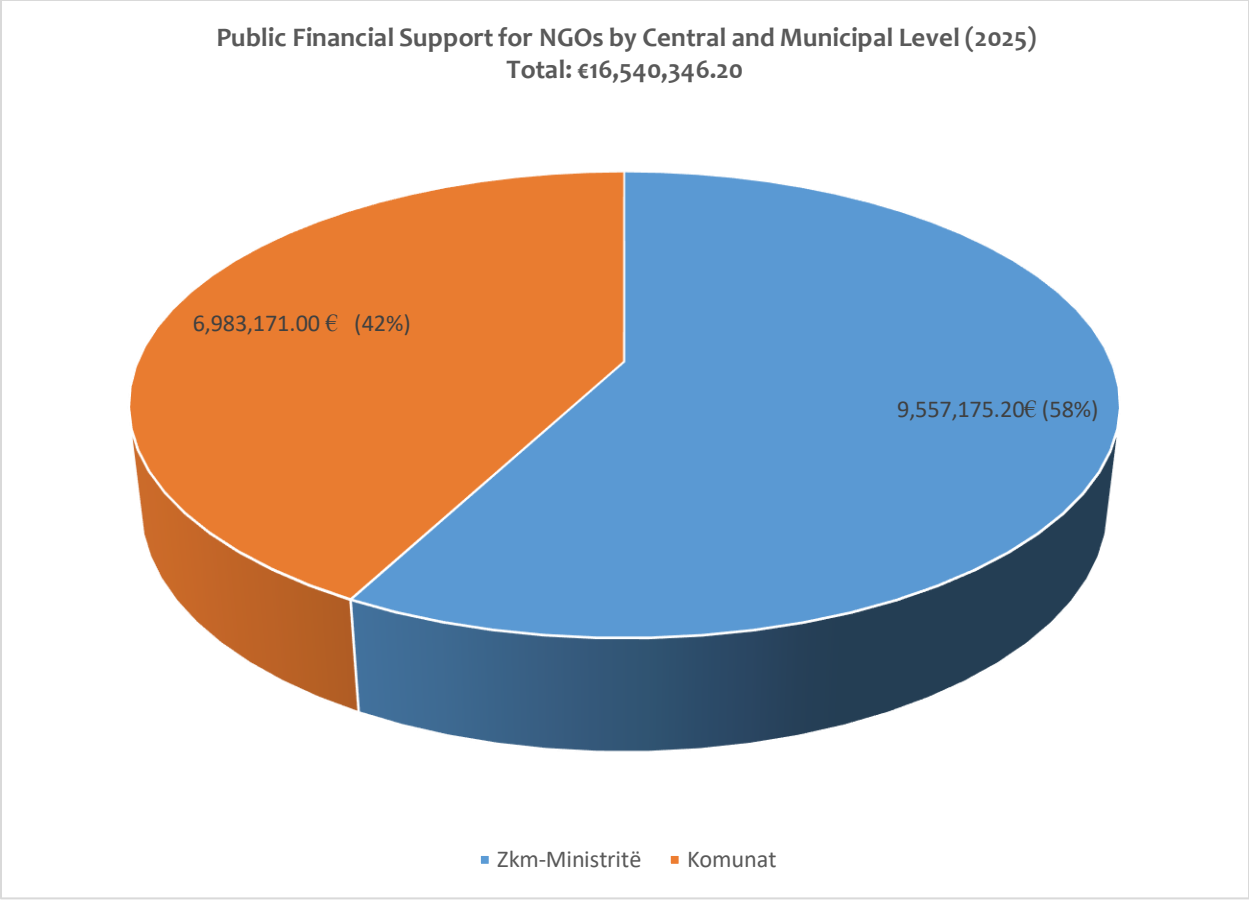

Fig. 10 – Public financial support for NGOs by central and municipal level (2025)

3.2 Central level: OPM and Ministries

At the central level, financial support for NGOs was provided by the Office of the Prime Minister and line ministries. Figure 11 presents the number of projects funded by ministries, while Figure 12 shows the amounts allocated. Some ministries have had higher budgets for public calls, while others have supported projects with smaller amounts but with a specific thematic focus.

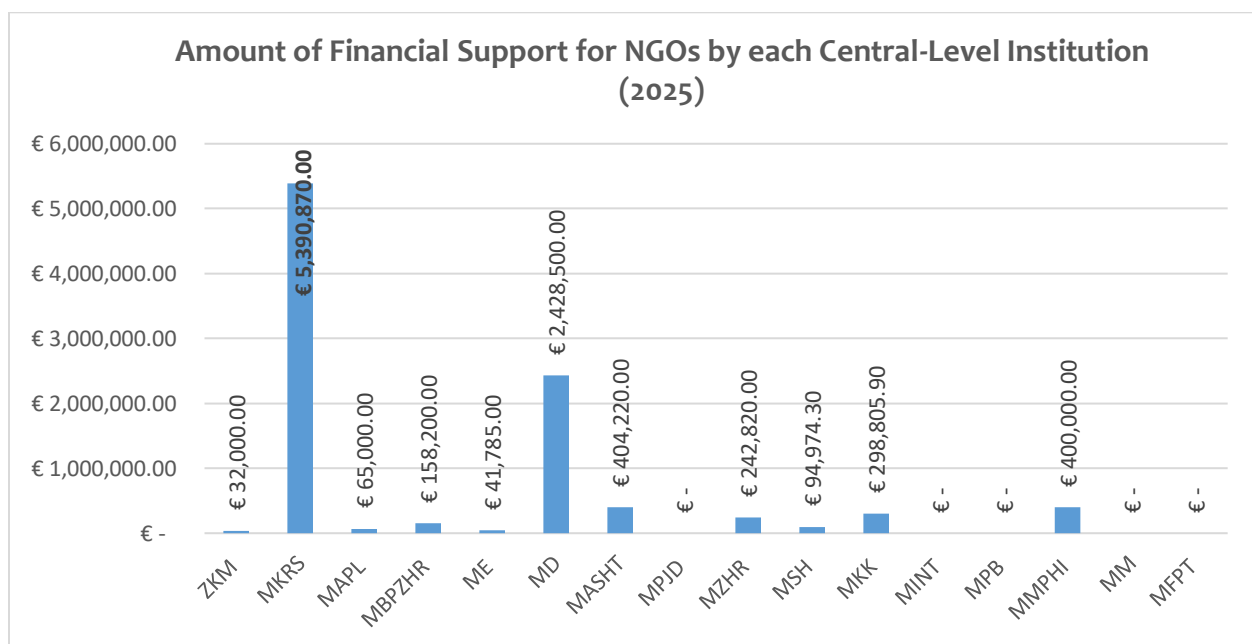

Fig. 12 – Amount of financial support for NGOs by each central-level institution (2025)

3.3 Local Level: Municipalities

Municipalities play an important role in funding NGOs, especially in areas directly related to the needs of the local community. For 2025, most municipalities have announced public calls and have supported projects in areas such as sports, culture, social services, and youth. Figure 13 presents the number of projects supported by municipalities, while Figure 14 shows the amounts funded by municipalities. As shown in the figures below, there are significant differences between municipalities, with Prizren and Peja having allocated considerably higher amounts for civil society projects compared to other municipalities.

3.4 General Data for 2025

The table below presents all budget organizations that have reported for 2025, including the Office of the Prime Minister, ministries, and municipalities. For each institution, the total amount allocated for supporting NGO projects during the year is provided. These data offer a clear overview of the allocation of public funds at both central and local levels, enabling the identification of institutions with higher allocations as well as those with more limited funding. Analysis of the table reveals significant differences in the financial capacities of institutions, where some ministries and municipalities have provided substantial support to civil society, while others have contributed at lower levels. This overview is essential for understanding the overall funding trend and assessing the level of engagement of each institution in strengthening civil society.

3.5 Comparison between 2024 and 2025

In 2025, the total amount of public funding dedicated to civil society organizations was €16,540,346.08. Figure 15 shows a comparison of the figures for 2024 and 2025 for the OPM and ministries, while figure 16 shows the number of projects for 2024 and 2025 for the OPM/ Ministries.

These data constitute the basis for a detailed analysis of trends and institutional priorities in NGO funding.

Compared to 2024, 2025 recorded a slight decrease in the total amount of funds allocated to NGOs. Figure 17 shows a comparison of the figures for 2024 and 2025 at the municipal level, while figure 18 shows the number of projects for 2024 and 2025 at the municipal level. This comparison helps to understand the trend of institutional support and efforts to enhance transparency.

4. PURPOSE OF FINANCIAL SUPPORT

4.1 General Objectives

Public financial support for non-governmental organizations aims to strengthen the role of civil society in the democratic, social and economic development of the country. Through public funding, the goal is to enhance the capacities of NGOs and support projects and initiatives that have a positive impact on the lives of citizens. At the same time, this support contributes to promoting cooperation between public institutions and the civil sector.

4.2 Platform and Reporting Mechanism

The electronic reporting platform has played an important role in increasing transparency and access to information related to public funding for NGOs. Through this system, institutions publish data on public calls, supported projects, contracts, and financial values allocated. The platform has helped increase public trust and has created easier opportunities for monitoring the process by organizations and citizens.

4.3 Advancement of the Reporting Process

The digitalization of the reporting process has contributed to improving the quality and accuracy of published data. Institutions have been able to report in a more efficient and structured manner, while the public has gained faster access to updated information. This advancement has positively influenced the increase in transparency, accountability, and public oversight of public fund management.

4.4 Recommendations for Improvement

Although significant progress has been made in the reporting process, there are still areas that require improvement. Institutions need to harmonize the way data is reported, avoid delays in publishing reports, and provide training and technical support to responsible staff. In addition, there is a need to strengthen data control and verification mechanisms in order to ensure the accuracy and reliability of published information.

4.5 Institutional Benefits

Public funding of NGOs brings significant benefits to institutions and society at large. It helps to create sustainable partnerships between the public sector and non-governmental organizations, increases institutional transparency, and strengthens citizens' trust in state institutions.

Furthermore, through this financial support, institutions are able to implement their strategic objectives more effectively and contribute to building a more democratic and inclusive society.

5. DETAILED DATA ON FINANCIAL SUPPORT

5.1 OPM and Ministries

At the central level, the Office of the Prime Minister and ministries have allocated significant funds for projects organized by NGOs. Data shows that a large share of the budget has been directed towards projects related to human rights, sustainable development, education, and youth empowerment.

As shown in Table 2, the differences are evident: some municipalities have funded only one or two projects, while others have allocated support to more than ten projects. This clearly reflects differences in local policy priorities and financial capacities of each municipality. Table 3 also shows that the field of sports and youth has dominated in terms of the number of projects supported.

5.2 Municipalities

Municipalities have made a significant contribution to supporting NGO projects, which have had a direct impact on their local communities. Many municipalities have funded projects in the areas of sports, culture, and social inclusion. The relevant tables provide a clear overview of the allocation of funds by municipality.

5.4 Comparative Analysis Over the Years

The comparison of data between 2024 and 2025 shows a trend of stability in the overall funding amounts, with a slight increase in the number of funded projects at the local level. This trend reflects the commitment of institutions to support civil society and to advance transparency in the allocation of public funds. Figure 12 and the relevant tables clearly show that the increase is more evident in some of the larger municipalities, which have allocated higher funds compared to the previous year, while some smaller municipalities have recorded a decline or stagnation in funding.

In the 2025 report, out of 57 institutions with reporting obligations, 50 submitted data, representing approximately 87% in total. This level is slightly higher compared to 2024, indicating a positive trend in institutional participation. However, a limited number of municipalities still did not report at all.

An important element is that some institutions reported that they did not allocate any funds to NGOs during 2025. These cases, although not affecting the total funding amount, reflect a higher level of transparency, as even non-funding has become part of official reporting.

Technological improvements in the online platform and increased capacity of coordinators have facilitated the reporting process and enabled most institutions to submit more accurate and complete data compared to 2024. These developments demonstrate that the long-term trend is positive and indicates a shift towards a more transparent, inclusive, and reliable system for supporting civil society.

6. ADDITIONAL CLARIFICATIONS

- As technical issues were encountered with the platform during this year, in cooperation and coordination with all coordinators of the responsible institutions at both the local and central level, it was agreed that they would submit the completed F20 form to us. Subsequently, the Office for Good Governance has entered the data directly into the platform in order to avoid errors and overcome the aforementioned technical problems.
- Report on the Subsidization of NGOs and Outstanding Obligations Carried Forward from 2025 for the Municipality of Prizren
 Attached are the reports concerning the process of subsidizing non-governmental organizations (NGOs), as well as the overview of outstanding unpaid obligations for the year 2025 in the Municipality of Prizren.
 During 2025, the Municipality of Prizren supported a number of non-governmental organizations through subsidy schemes, in accordance with the established priorities and budget planning. However, due to budgetary constraints and insufficient financial resources by the end of the fiscal year, it was not possible to execute all planned payments to the beneficiary NGOs. As a result, part of the financial obligations remained unpaid and were carried forward as outstanding obligations to the following year. These obligations will be addressed and settled during 2026, in accordance with the available budgetary resources and the applicable financial procedures.
 For further details regarding the amounts, beneficiaries, and payment status, please refer to the attached reports.

7. CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

7.1 Main Conclusions

The 2025 report shows that the process of public funding for NGOs has made significant progress in terms of transparency and digitalization. The use of the online reporting platform has become a standard practice for the majority of institutions, making the process more accessible to the public and easier to analyse by the responsible bodies. This step has directly contributed to increasing public trust and facilitating public monitoring.

However, several ongoing challenges remain: delays in reporting by a small number of municipalities, the lack of full standardization of data, as well as cases of non-reporting by certain institutions. The year-to-year comparison indicates a positive trend, as for the first time the reporting rate has reached over 87.72% of institutions, compared to lower percentages in previous years. This improvement is significant; however, the fact that not all institutions comply with the same deadlines and reporting formats remains a challenge for transparency and data harmonization.

7.2 Recommendations for Budget Institutions/Organizations

To further improve the process of public funding and reporting, it is recommended that institutions:

- Strictly comply with reporting deadlines and avoid delays that negatively affect the analysis process.
- Harmonize data to ensure that year-to-year comparisons are complete and accurate.
- Provide technical support and training for officials responsible for reporting.
- Strengthen internal control mechanisms to ensure the accuracy and reliability of data.

7.3 Additional Recommendations for NGO Funding

To increase transparency and the involvement of civil society, it is also recommended that:

- The use of the online platform be promoted as the primary tool for publishing and accessing public funding data.
- Cooperation between public institutions and NGOs be further expanded in defining funding priorities.
- A more equitable distribution of funds be ensured, avoiding concentration in only certain sectors or regions.
- Training sessions be developed for NGOs on the application, management, and reporting of projects funded through public funds.
- Independent monitoring by civil society be encouraged as an additional mechanism for transparency.

7.4 General Conclusions

The 2025 report shows that public institutions in Kosovo have made significant progress in the transparency and accountability of funding for civil society organizations. For the first time, over 87.72% of institutions have reported, creating a much more comprehensive overview of the allocated funds.

From a financial perspective, the data shows a clear distinction between the two levels of governance:

- Central-level institutions (OPM and ministries) have recorded a significant increase in support, rising from approximately €8.5 million in 2024 to €9,557,175.20 in 2025. This indicates an increase in funding and a stronger commitment by the central level to support civil society.
- Municipalities, on the other hand, have maintained a stable level of funding, allocating approximately €6 million in both 2024 and 2025. Although there has been no significant increase in the overall amount, municipalities have funded more projects (1,043) compared to the central level (550 projects), indicating broader and more diversified distribution.

In conclusion, the trend in 2025 is positive: transparency has increased, funding from the central level has expanded significantly, while municipalities are contributing to the diversification of projects. It is recommended to strengthen reporting mechanisms and increase coordination between the two levels of governance, so that the impact of public funds is greater, more equitable, and more responsive to local communities.
